COURT HAS HEAVY CRIMINAL DOCKET

Twelve Felony and Twelve Misdemeanor Cases to Be Disposed Of.

CONVENES THIS MORNING

Two Men Will Face Jury and Answer Murder Charges

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 6 Hollingsworth Street, Phone 143.
Petersburg, Va., January 15.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

The January term of the Hustings Court convenes to-morrow, with an unusually large criminal docket, embracing twelve felony and twelve misdemeanor cases. This is the accumulation of two months, no cases having been tried at the December term. Two murder cases are to be tried. Robert Brown, colored, for killing Otis Curtis, colored, on the Appomattox bridge, on the night of November 2. This will be his second trial, the first jury having failed to agree on a verdict. Joseph Hill, colored, for the murder of Henry West, colored, on the night of December 1, during a difficulty and fight over a matter of five cents. Edward Kemmer is to stand trial for bigamy, and other charges embracing grand larceny, house breaking, highway robbery, etc. The grand jury will be composed of twelve men, and it is expected that the judge in charging the jury will direct attention to tax returns on personal property—tangible and intangible—and incomes of citizens of Petersburg as has been done by the courts in other cities and counties of the State at the instance of the Auditor of Public Accounts.

It is thought not improbable that the grand jury may be asked to make investigation as to whether there have been any wrongful tax returns.

Addresses by Dr. Williams.

Dr. Euston G. Williams, State Health Commissioner, yesterday made an interesting talk to the pupils of the High School on health and sanitation, and in the afternoon delivered an address before the Crater League in Prince George County, in which, after commending by the courts in other cities and counties of the State at the instance of the Auditor of Public Accounts.

At the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last night, the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: H. S. Seward, Edward Eigenbrunn, R. H. Mann, A. W. Gray, E. C. Kent, Frank D. Alton and Paul S. Roper. Two new governors were elected—Mayor George Cameron, Jr., and J. W. Brown, to fill vacancies on the Board caused by the retirement of W. E. Poole and G. C. Wright.

The Chamber endorsed the recommendations made in the President's report and decided to carry them out.

Mechanics' Association.

The annual meeting of the Petersburg Benevolent Mechanic Association, the owner of the new seven story business and office building, just completed, was held last night, and officers were elected as follows: President, Captain John W. Hays; Vice-President, O. W. Mattox; Secretary and Treasurer, Wm. H. Baxter. Mr. Baxter has continuously held his office for half a century.

The following members were elected as directors: Wm. E. Poole, John Howell, C. E. Williamson, James Y. Branch, J. T. Meredith, R. L. Campbell and Dr. T. J. Burgess.

After the meeting the members partook of the Association's annual banquet.

Addresses on Suffrage.

Miss Mary Johnston, the Virginia authoress, and Mrs. B. B. Valentine, president of the Woman's Equal Suffrage League of Virginia, will speak at a public meeting to be held in Petersburg on the evening of January 28.

The meeting will be held in the large auditorium of the R. E. Lee Public School.

Died in Hospital.

Mrs. Nora A. Wilkinson, wife of E. T. Wilkinson, of Prince George County, died in the Petersburg Hospital yesterday. The body was taken to the county and the funeral was held this afternoon at Shiloh Baptist Church.

Besides her husband she is survived by one son, Thurston Wilkinson.

To New York for Burial.

The funeral of the late Samuel E. Dodge, aged sixty-six years, late superintendent of the Petersburg Leather Company, took place this afternoon from the residence on High Street, after which the body was sent to Gloversville, N. Y., the former home of the deceased.

Personal and Otherwise.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Allgood will informally celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage on the evening of January 21, from 7 to 11 o'clock, at their residence on Bank Street.

Miss Mary McVane Dillon last night delightfully entertained fourteen of her friends, in celebration of her fourteenth birthday.

Frank Gee left this evening for Panama on a three months' business trip.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Petersburg Club will be held to-morrow evening in the club's home on Franklin Street. A smoker will be given.

Capt. W. S. McCance, for many years a member of the Common Council, left this morning for California, to spend several months with relatives.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR WILL CELEBRATE

Winchester Commandery to Observe Its 100th Birthday This Spring.

Winchester, Va., January 15.—Plans are being outlined by the officers and members of Winchester Commandery, No. 12, Knights Templar, for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of its founding, which took place in the spring of 1813. The celebration will be one of the most elaborate affairs of the kind held in the lower Shenandoah Valley in many years, and it is expected that large numbers of Knights Templar from the various cities and towns of the Virginia Valley and others from contiguous portions of the Cumberland Valley in West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania will gather as the special guests of the Winchester organization, which is, incidentally, one of the wealthiest and most flourishing in the State.

The Winchester Commandery, now known as No. 12, was first instituted by Pennsylvania Knights Templar as Winchester Grand Encampment, No. 1, in 1813, according to documents and metallic inscriptions found in a leaden box in the northeast corner of the old Market House, which was torn down several years ago to make room for the present City Hall. The Grand Commandery of Virginia was instituted in Richmond about ten years later.

The Winchester Commandery has had an uninterrupted career of nearly 100 years, even the troublesome days of the Civil War not interfering with its progress. Daniel Walker Thomas, of Winchester, was the first right eminent grand commander of Virginia, and now, after the lapse of nearly a century, Alexander Mantz Baker, of Winchester, occupies the same office, he being the first Winchester man to be so exalted since the elevation of Daniel Thomas in 1813. William E. Cooper is the eminent commander of Winchester Commandery.

Two big barns belonging to Isaac Silver, of Stafford County, five miles from this city, were destroyed by fire Monday night, together with valuable contents. A large lot of feed was in the building and two stacks of fodder nearby were burned. The stables were saved after strenuous work by neighbors, about fifty of them having gathered. The horses were taken out and the farming implements were also saved. The loss is nearly $2,000 with no insurance. All of Mr. Silver's other buildings were insured, but these were recently erected and he had no insurance on them.

Mill Destroyed by Fire.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Baydon, Va., January 15.—The lumber and planing mills of H. E. Coghill were entirely destroyed, together with their machinery, by fire last night. The fire was discovered between 3 and 3 o'clock in the morning and rapidly consumed the entire establishment, and also a considerable quantity of lumber. There was about $10,000 insurance, but notwithstanding this, Mr. Coghill's loss will amount to $15,000 or more.

Among those here to-day was Mr. Montague, of Hampton, who is desirous of becoming district attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia.
